NO. 45

DRASTIC NOTE IS SENT TO BRITAIN

Their Blockade Illegal and Ineffective.

SAYS UNCLE SAM, DECISIVELY

United States Cannot Submit To a Curtailment of Our Rights.

NOTE DEALS WITH ALL PHASES

Washington, Nov. 7.—The United States, in its latest note to Great Britain, made public here to-day, covering exhaustively British interference with American trade since the beginning of the European war, declares that the so-called blockade instituted by the Allies against enemy countries on March 11, is "ineffective, illegal and indefensible." Notice is served that the American Government "cannot submit to the curtailment of its neutral rights," and it cannot "with complaisance suffer further subordination of its rights and interests."

Ambassador Page, to whom the note was sent by special messenger for delivery to the London Foreign Office, was instructed by Secretary Lansing "to impress most earnestly" upon the British Government that the United States "must insist that the relations between it and His Majesty's Government be governed, not by a policy of expediency, but by those established rules of international conduct to which Great Britain in the past has held the United States to account when the latter nation was a belligerent engaged in a struggle for national existence."

Declaring the United States "unhesitatingly assumes" the task of championing the integrity of neutral rights, the note proclaims that the American Government will devote its energies to the task, exercising always an impartial attitude.

The note, nearly 15,000 words in length, was made public by agreement between the State Department and the British Foreign Office. It carries with it a voluminous appendix, giving the text of American naval instructions issued in 1862 and a summary and table showing hundreds of vessels detained by British authorities since the beginning of the present war.

The body of the note is divided into thirty-six points, dealing with all phases of the contraband question, seizures and detentions, prior to, as well as after, the so-called blockade was instituted, and announces that a separate communication will be sent soon dealing particularly with the "property and right of the British Government to include in their list of contraband of war certain articles which have been so included."

POSTAL REVENUES SHOW BIG REVIVAL OF TRADE

Washington, Nov. 5.—October postal revenues, Postmaster General Burleson announced to-day, show a return to a normal rate of increase, and are a barometer of increasing business prosperity.

"Postal receipts at the fifty largest post-offices during October, which collect one-half of the postal revenues," said he, "contain important evidence of healthy and well-distributed prosperity in the country. Postal income is acknowledged to be an accurate barometer of business conditions. The October returns show substantial increases in the largest postal centers in all sections of the United States. The revival of business is general, not local or spotty."

ALREADY IN FIELD FOR PRESIDENTIAL NOMINATION

Washington, Nov. 8.—Former Senator Theodore E. Burton, of Ohio, will be the first entry in the race for the Republican nomination for President. While a number of other eminent Republicans are mentioned in connection with the Presidential race, none has made announcement of his candidacy.

According to Burton's press representative here, the Burton candidacy probably will be launched soon in a statement to be made by Burton himself, which will be in the nature of a formal announcement.

Granville W. Mooney, of Ashtabula, Ohio, former Speaker of the Ohio House of Representatives, will be the manager of Burton's campaign, and the plan is to open headquarters in Washington, with Mooney in charge. There also will be branch headquarters in a number of States where important lights for delegates are expected.

$10,000,000 For Poodles.
"The most astounding extravagance of the women of America is that we spend $10,000,000 each year for poodles."

Mrs. R. L. Barker told this to the delegates to the annual meeting of the Women's International Missionary Union to-day in describing how American women make the money.

She continued:
"We spend more for hats yearly than it takes to support the army and navy and several other Federal departments. We also spend $107,000,000 for soft and cooling drinks and $178,000,000 for candy. It is time to call a halt and to return to the same ways of our mothers."

A SIGN OF PROSPERITY.

To date this year, $828,072,000 of bonds have been bought on the New York market. Bond purchases for the same period last year amounted to only $424,667,000.

This practical doubling of bond purchases in a single year is one of the surest signs of prosperity. The activity of the stock market means almost nothing; the enormous majority of all stock transactions are mere speculation. But the man or woman who buys a bond is usually making a permanent investment. (Chicago Journal.)

Don't put up a bluff unless you are pretty sure the other fellow can't surmount it.

DIXIE BEE LINE ROUTE SELECTED

Kentucky Favored With Main Highway.

RUNS THROUGH MANY TOWNS

On the Selected Route From Danville, Ill., To Nashville, Tenn.

SPURIOUS FIGHTS FOR PLACE

Evansville, Ind., Nov. 6.—The official route of the proposed Dixie Bee Line Highway was selected at the executive session of the nineteen county vice presidents from Illinois, Indiana, Kentucky and Tennessee.

It was decided that the proposed highway will run from Danville, Ill., to Terre Haute, Ind., passing through Clinton, Ind., and Newport, Ind. From Terre Haute the highway will follow the State road south, passing through Sullivan, Vincennes, Princeton and Fort Branch to Evansville.

Twelve miles below Evansville the highway will cross the Ohio river at Henderson, Ky., and from Henderson the road will proceed south to Madisonville, passing through Poole and Dixon. From Madisonville it will proceed to Hopkinsville, going through Barlington, Nortonville, Crofton and Morton's Gap.

From Hopkinsville the road will go to Springfield, Tenn., passing through Guthrie, Ky., Pembroke, Ky., and Trenton, Ky. The highway will strike the Dixie Highway at Springfield.

Clarksville, Tenn., made a big fight for the highway and sent a large delegation and band to the convention to urge that the highway pass through Clarksville and Ashland City, Tenn., and on to Nashville.

The county vice presidents, acting as a commission, also decided to run a branch road of the Dixie Bee Line from Madisonville to Russellville, passing through Greenville. At Russellville the big Dixie Highway again will be tapped.

There was a spirited fight between Seabree and Dixon, in Webster county, but it was apparent early in the day that the Dixon route would win out. There was also a warm fight between Paris, Ill., on the one side, and Clinton and Newport, Ind., on the other.

The county vice presidents before final adjournment selected the official marker for the Dixie Bee Line Highway that will be stationed at various crossings along the highway. The marker consists of a Union and Confederate flag beneath an American eagle. Between the flags are the words: "Dixie Bee Line." The marker is to show that the sectional feeling between the North and the South has forever been wiped out.

BROTHER AND SISTER MEET AFTER 50 YEARS

Bloomington, Ind., Nov. 6.—Geo. W. Coffman and his sister, Mrs. A. L. Pitzer, met at the home of the latter, east of this city, to-day for the first time in fifty years. In 1865, at the close of the Civil War, George, then 23 years old, left his home in Southern Indiana and went to Iowa. From there he went to California and later to Alaska. In the latter country he was successful in making a fortune. His sister came to this country with her parents a few weeks after the brother left. During his absence Coffman never heard from his parents or sister. While visiting at his old home in Washington county he chanced to read a paper from this county containing an item about the serious illness of Mrs. Pitzer. This resulted in the reunion. He is 73 years old and his sister 75.

PROSPERITY SPREADING ALL OVER THE COUNTRY

News of a car shortage is an evidence of prosperity which no man can question, evidence which is corroborated by the fact that railroad gross earnings in September showed a gain of 2 per cent. It explains the placing of heavy orders for material by railroads for delivery in 1916, and justifies the belief that liberal buying of cars is beginning or will soon begin.

Buying of material by railroads is good news to the lumber industry. Truck improvement will require ties, also bridge material wherever steel bridge have not supplanted trestles. Terminal improvements will require lumber for construction. New roads and branches will demand large quantities of all these classes of material. The great demand for steel from munition plants and from foreign railroads and the consequent higher prices may check the tendency to build steel freight cars and may tempt railroads to build of wood. They may be the more inclined that way because lumber is cheap and can be delivered promptly. Another encouraging fact to lumbermen is an increase of 26.8 per cent in value of building permits in 79 principal cities during September.

All of these features of prosperity and the inferences which are drawn from them go to show that prosperity cannot long prevail in the country at large without spreading into every corner. Its beginnings are already perceptible in the Pacific Northwest, and no long time can elapse before it reaches our premier industries and puts the prophet of evil to flight. (Portland Oregonian.)

A MONARCHY IN CHINA IS FAVORED BY 15 TO 3

Provinces' Standing Shown In Reply To Request For Postponement.

Peking, Nov. 6.—Fifteen of the eighteen provinces of China are said by the Government to have voted in favor of a monarchy. The Minister of Foreign Affairs, Lu Cheng Hsiang, made this statement to M. Ohtani, secretary of the Japanese legation, in explaining in its opinion the decision of the people concerning the proposal to re-establish a monarchy. M. Ohtani visited the Foreign Office and asked Lu Cheng Hsiang to explain more definitely China's reply to the request for postponement of the decision made by Japan, Great Britain, France and Russia. He said Japan was uncertain whether the Government still intended to make a speedy change.

The Foreign Minister contended China was misrepresented by reports that hasty action was contemplated, and pointed to the advanced stage which the elections already had reached. He assured M. Ohtani the Chinese Government was considering the friendly advice of the Powers in the same spirit in which it was offered.

It is reported from a reliable source that the Government may request the Council of State, acting as Parliament, to legalize a postponement of the monarchy restoration, should it be finally decided upon.

The French, British and Russian ministers have not asked China to explain her reply, as it was considered by them to be satisfactory.

DOCKET IN HANCOCK COUNTY WILL BE LIGHT

Hawesville, Ky., Nov. 8.—Hancock County Circuit Court will convene on Nov. 15 and as shown by the records Friday, which was the last day for service, the business will be the least ever on the docket here. There have been but seven new suits filed for the term and the docket of old cases has been cleaned up except in a few instances where settlements are to be made. On the criminal side there is not a single new case of any kind for trial. No deed of violence was done in the county nor was any felony committed except the one case of a negro stealing chickens and he left for parts unknown and his lone case will not be tried. The jail is empty and has been for months and even years except when a bank official of Owensboro was here in jail five years ago. The citizens are proud of this record and challenge "the State for a better showing in any county."

David E. Rhoads Dead.

Mr. David E. Rhoads, of Dade City, Florida, died last Wednesday morning. His remains were brought to Greenville, Ky., last Friday for interment, Multenberg being his native county. Mr. Rhoads likewise lived at Rockport, this county, several years before he went to Florida for the benefit of his health.

VILLA'S IRE IS MUCH AROUSED

Towards Americans—He Wants Revenge.

HARROWING TALES ARE TOLD

By Four Americans Who Were Thrice Condemned To Death.

BERGAND CHIEF'S LATEST ACTS

Naco, Ariz., Nov. 6.—Four Americans, released at Villa Verde yesterday by Gen. Villa, after three times having been condemned to death, arrived on American soil here to-day and narrated their experiences as fled Cross workers among Villa's wounded on the battlefield of Agua Prieta. The party consisted of Dr. E. H. Thigpen, Dr. Charles H. Miller and two chauffeurs, Al Wilson and J. H. Pylant. The two physicians took to their beds upon their arrival as a result of their experiences and an all night tramp through the mountains.

Gen. Villa flew into a rage, Dr. Thigpen said, when he learned that the Americans could not guarantee the passage of his wounded over American territory to Juarez.

"Treat the Americans as they treat us," he is quoted as having said to his aide. "As you please. Turn the artillery on Douglas and put these men in front of the infantry."

Intercession by Gen. Rafael Nave, coupled with fear of retaliation, upon families of Villa and his subordinates in the United States, was responsible for the safety of the Americans, Dr. Thigpen said.

When a subordinate reported to Villa that Carranza troops had been permitted to cross American territory to aid Gen. Calles in defending Agua Prieta, Villa again sought vengeance upon the Americans. In a rage he hoped excommunications upon their heads and finally ordered them killed, they said.

Believing in the efficacy of prayer, the four Americans knelt among the wounded on the battlefield while the riflemen waited. "The Mexicans about us were impressed," said Dr. Thigpen, "and the intercession once more of Gen. Nave, who suggested the execution not be carried out until families of Villa and his officers could be recalled from the United States, spared us once more."

"I asked Villa if I might talk to him," said Thigpen.

"If you say a word to me I'll shoot you myself," he replied, according to the doctor.

The four were marched to Villa Verde, where for the third time they were condemned to be shot. Gen. Nave, who followed them, again interceded, this time with Gen. Rodriguez, who had arrived from Naco. Shortly afterward they were released, to make their way as best they could.

"Gen. Nave told us good-bye," concluded Dr. Thigpen. "I am a poor man," he said, "and if you care to give me any money you may and if not, all right."

Thigpen's home is in Sandersville, Ga., and Miller lives at Hereford, Tex. They left Naco Tuesday to render what aid they could to Villa wounded.

Designing To End Villa.

Washington, Nov. 6.—Carranza forces to the north and south of Villa's retreating army are concentrating for a blow which the de facto leaders hope will end the strife in Northern Mexico. Maj. Gen. Funston reported to-day that Gen. Obregon, Carranza's chief commander, will arrive at Douglas, Ariz., to-morrow to begin organizing a campaign. Carranza troops, traveling unarmed, will be brought over the American railway from Laredo to Douglas. They will be unable to take the field for some days, however, as they are arriving without equipment. Meanwhile Gen. Dieguez, with a large Carranza force, has left Hermosillo to strike Villa's columns from the south.

Villa intends going toward Hermosillo and already is moving toward Villa Verde.

Gen. Funston has been informed that Villa demanded and received $25,000 in gold from the Cananea Copper Company, with ten tons of flour and other supplies, and has called on the Montezuma Copper Company and the El Tigre Company for $25,000 each. The two last companies, American concerns, refused to comply, and Villa stated that unless they did, he would destroy their property. The Montezuma Company has a plant valued at upward of a million dollars.

Gen. Villa told the Cananea Copper Company that he proposed to take its entire herd of 30,000 cattle for use of his army.

Good Work In Mines.

A dispatch from Harboursville, Ky., says: "It is stated that more coal traffic is now coming out from the Cumberland Valley country over the L. & N. tracks than ever before. All mines are busy six days in the week and many are working night forces. In contrast to the situation early in the year when few mines were operating more than two and three days each week, prices are still below normal, but are showing a rapid improvement, a scarcity of coal cars for shipping strengthening the market. A full run throughout the winter is expected by the trade."

FEW KENTUCKIANS ARE DEBTORS TO UNCLE SAM

In Matter of Paying Money Loaned by Government When War Broke Out.

Washington, Nov. 4.—Little hope is expressed by departmental officers of recovering any of the money loaned Americans abroad at the time of the breaking out of the European war which has not been collected up to this time, despite the publication by the Treasury Department of hundreds of names of such persons, among them six Kentuckians, two from Louisville. These funds were advanced in the summer of 1914.

The Kentuckians listed under the heading of those who have failed or refused to pay money advanced by the Government when they were caught at the outbreak of the war are Harry Whitlow, address given as 174 Broadway, Louisville, who owes $75; Joseph Connors, 1628 Market street, Louisville, who owes $55; neither Whitlow nor Connors indicating whether their address was east or west on the streets given; R. A. Anderson, Wickliffe, Ky.; E. A. Cantrell, 115 York street, Newport, Ky.; William Graves, 1918 Hamlet street, Newport, Ky., and Florence Hardeeman, Covington, $25.

Anderson, according to the Treasury Department, owes $11,900. Cantrell $225 and Graves $48.50.

In many instances, it is now believed, fictitious names or addresses, or both, were given by persons to whom the Government advanced money.

The ship which was sent over carrying the money for the relief of the Americans was in charge of Assistant Secretary of War Henry Beckenridge. Mr. Beckenridge and his assistants, however, transferred this money to United States representatives abroad, who apportioned it to persons presenting claims.

A large percentage of those to whom money was sent gave their residence as New York City. Other large cities, such as Philadelphia and Chicago, also were given in many instances as being the homes of the recipients of this Government's bounty.

Indiana Debtors.

Quite a number of persons added gave Indiana as their homes. Among these were: William Adel, 518 Fulton avenue, Evansville, $59; Edgar E. Arnold, South Bend, $80; Richard Hamsley, 224 Tennessee street, Evansville, $75; Fritz Jacob, Peru, $2; Miss Louise Pacheco, 2217 Capitol avenue, Indianapolis, $25; C. W. Payne, Indianapolis, $2; Mrs. Revie Schwartz, South Bend, $165.30; Joseph Dunn, 121 Jefferson avenue, Indianapolis, $16.50; Mrs. Englebert Eck, 1827 East Maryland street, Evansville; Herbert Eikenberg, 1102 Sterling street, Indianapolis, $18.10; Joseph Fezke, 1601 Washington street, Gary, $38, and Robert Dandisy, Hartford City, $47.50.

In 1874 the foreign missionary gifts of the Southern Presbyterians amounted to $28,858; in 1914 to $501,179.

LATEST FIGURES ON TOBACCO CROP

Which Show An Increased Production.

WILL BE LIGHT IN WEIGHT

Leaf In Kentucky Lacks Gummy Substance — Burley Not Extra Good.

LESS THAN AVERAGE QUALITY

The tobacco crop of the United States which has just been harvested according to statistics compiled by The Enquirer, somewhat larger than grown in 1914. There was percentage less shrinkage in the apparent yield during the summer months than is usual in a crop of similar size. Conditions at planting time in most sections were quite favorable although the usual shortage of plants was reported from some important districts even as early as the middle of June. It was apparent that there was a considerable increase in the area set to tobacco. Weather conditions throughout the summer, however, were not particularly conducive to a heavy growth of leaf, particularly in the white burley belt, and for this reason the crop will weigh out somewhat lighter than was indicated at planting time, notwithstanding that improved conditions in certain localities made for a larger increase in production than in other areas.

Unlike the 1914 crop, which was materially reduced by extremely dry weather during the growing season, this year tobacco suffered in many sections by a superabundance of rain, which prevented the proper maturation of the fields. General reports indicate a fair average quality of leaf, but one light and silky in appearance and in some instances unusually thin in texture. But for this fact the 1915 crop would undoubtedly have exceeded the previous high production record.

The total tobacco yield of the United States, as compared by The Enquirer, is 999,199,250 pounds, grown on an area of 1,051,620 acres. Last year the total production was 882,854,250 pounds, grown on an area of 912,015 acres. Thus an increase of 116,345,000 pounds, or slightly more than 13 per cent, is indicated in this year's yield. The 1915 area harvested shows an increase of 108,605 acres or about 10 per cent, as compared with that of 1914. The official government estimate of the tobacco crop for the past four years was as follows: 1914, 1,024,679,000 pounds; 1913, 1,017,731,000 pounds; 1912, 962,485,000 pounds; 1911, 905,149,000 pounds.

In Kentucky, the world's largest producer of tobacco, the harvest area in 1915 was approximately 107,175 acres, as against 283,140 acres last year, making an increase of 24,035 acres, or almost 9 per cent. The total yield in the State, including both burley and dark types of tobacco, will be about 250,000,000 pounds, or 59,200 pounds less than was recorded in 1914. This shortage is due to the fact that the Kentucky leaf is very thin and entirely lacking in gummy weight. Also in many localities the crop was crippled very low and in other sections many of the lower leaves were lost entirely. However, it is probable that the Kentucky crop will make up in quality what it may lack in quantity.

North Carolina, the second largest tobacco producing section in the world, this year has a total of 250,000 acres, an increase over the harvested area of 1911 of 40,000 acres, or 18 per cent. The forecasted yield amounts to 182,000,000 pounds, an increase over last year of 28,000,000 pounds, or 18 per cent.

The burley belt of Kentucky, Ohio, Indiana and West Virginia was not favored as much as some sections of the country and there is a considerable decrease in both the area harvested and the production as compared with last year. From statistics gathered in every tobacco producing county in the States mentioned, The Enquirer estimates the total white burley production of 1915 to be approximately 178,648,750 pounds, as contrasted with 200,379,200 pounds in 1914, making a decrease for the current year of about 10 per cent. The burley yield was distributed as follows: Kentucky, 148,299,000 pounds; Ohio, 13,484,000 pounds; Indiana, 8,805,750 pounds; West Virginia and scattering sections, 8,000,000 pounds.

The total harvested area of burley tobacco was 174,205 acres, distributed as follows: Kentucky, 143,650 acres; Ohio, 13,675 acres; Indiana, 8,880 acres; West Virginia and scattering sections, 8,000 acres. Last year the total harvested burley area was 199,505 acres. Thus a decrease of 25,000 acres or 12 per cent is indicated.

According to good authority the current year's tobacco crop in the Green river district and in the Stemming district (counties to the south and west of Green river) to all practical purposes including 20 or more of the biggest tobacco growing counties in Western Kentucky, is in many respects an exceptional one. The average yield will amount to not above 65 to 70 per cent of a normal crop.

One half of the acreage will be of average quantity and more than average quality. Approximately one fourth of this year's crop in the territory described will be of the best quality and size grown in years. All of this best tobacco has been cured and housed under most favorable weather conditions.

The other half of the crop is small stalk tobacco, bearing a small, ill-shaped leaf. Therefore, speaking in pounds, there will come to different markets in the district one-third of the crop below normal in size and quality, one-third of normal size and the remaining third the best tobacco grown in this section in years.—[Cincinnati Enquirer.]

BOUNDARY LINE A CURIOUS THING

Which Separates Holland and Neighbors.

STRANGE PROXIMITIES OCCUR

Which Make Villagers On Frontier Lead Confusing Bisected Existence.

PECULIAR CONTRASTS APPEAR

Amsterdam, Nov. 1.—The barbed-wire boundary between Holland and her neighbors, Germany and Belgium, presents a remarkable picture in some points, where it bisects farm houses, towns, or even cuts straight across the platforms of frontier railway stations.

There is one place where the street is divided up the middle, so that Dutch and German shops face each other across barriers of barbed-wire. On the further side of the street runs a street railway, which is in Germany. Separated from the tracks by a high wire fence, there runs down the middle of the street a strip twelve feet wide which is neutral ground. Then comes another fence, and the narrow bit of road and pavement beyond it are in Holland. At each street corner are narrow openings to allow passage from one country to the other, sentries of each country standing careful guard on either side. It is the main street of a busy town, and the ordinary town life flows back and forth while little Dutch street boys talk to the German street boys through the meshes. Down this street at the beginning of the war the Dutch population watched for four days and nights the German army marching southward into Belgium.

All the villages on the frontier lead a confusedly bisected existence, a belt of barbed-wire as it were separating their heads from their feet.

In these places the work of the Dutch sentries is mainly to search the people who pass, lest they carry in or out illicit merchandise. The German guards are mostly concerned with keeping a lookout for deserters or hide-bodied Belgians who seek to escape from German rule. At a few points the German side of the barbed-wire fence is further protected by wires carrying electric current, and searchlights play up and down the line during the night.

In the towns which are bisected by the boundary line there are two or three contrasts which strike the observer immediately. All the soldiers on one side of the line are in one type of uniform, while in the other half of the town there are just as many soldiers, but, of course, in a different type of dress. The sentry boxes on one side are red, white and blue; on the other side they are red, white and black.

Part of the town of Beaulieu-Hertog is Belgian, but it is saved from German occupation owing to the fact that it is entirely surrounded by Dutch territory—a little Belgian island in the middle of Holland. There is no need of sentries here, and there is no wire to mark the invisible frontier which runs through the middle of the main streets. From here to the real frontier one travels over a well paved roadway which is Dutch, while the ditch at the side is Belgian. At the railway station, which is located in Holland, and Wieldo in Germany, the frontier runs straight through the ticket office and out across the platform on either side. A line of colored tiling in the floor marks the boundary, and the words "Nederland" and "Belgie" are set into the concrete on either side. On both platforms the sentries of the two countries face each other at a distance of a yard or so apart.

Ending It Out.

"A straight line from one blind tiger to another is the shortest distance between two pigs," says the Deftian (Aia.) Eagle. But after visiting the first blind tiger you can't go in a straight line to another.—[Macon Telegraph.]

THE GREAT SOLITUDE FOUND IN A BIG CITY

A German girl who has lived in New York nine years writes to a New York paper as follows:

"I live with my family, but we have hardly any acquaintances, and certainly none which we know intimately enough to consider as friends. While we go to theatres a great deal, this cannot make up for the necessity of my always going with one of my sisters; and though I meet a good many people in my place of business, being a stenographer, I have not accomplished the task of acquiring 'a fellow as you.' So there you are. And the question now is, What can one do about it?"

There is more of the letter, which discusses intelligently and cheerily the problem of the lonely girl in a great city. A great city is the greatest of all situations for those who haven't the means of making desirable acquaintances—and "means" means more than merely the financial well being that admits of making friends.

Smaller cities have their social divisions and alignments, but they are in many respects like one large family. All classes know one another. Individuals of all stations meet. Human nature in all of its phases is an open book for the student. Social opportunity, limited somewhat, of course, by circumstances, is far greater for the average person than it is in a metropolis.

There are certain compensations which life offers to dwellers in small cities that should not be overlooked when the question of future residence is under the young man's or young woman's consideration.—[Frankfort State Journal.]

UPAS TREE NOT DEADLY IS THE LATEST REPORT

Among the long-established beliefs which have in recent years been sadly disturbed is that of the deadly character of the upas tree. The exhalations of this tree were held to be so deadly that no animal life could survive within 150 feet of it. Dr. J. D. Gimlette, an Englishman, who has lived among the Malays for eighteen years, cites a story that when the poison from this tree is wanted by a Malay witch doctor, twenty condemned criminals are sent for it. Usually only one or two return alive, and these are pardoned. He says that, as a matter of fact, the "deadly upas" is largely a fake; that the tree may be chopped down in safety by anyone with a strong arm and a keen ax.

The Malay snarls his creese or arrow, says the doctor, with the insipid juice of the tree, and if the wound is deep enough, the poison produces a toxic effect on the heart similar to that produced by digitalis or by strophanthus, a climbing vine of West Africa, which yields an arrow poison which acts directly on the muscles of the heart.

WHAT COULD BE DONE
IN OUR RURAL SCHOOLS

The South and the West and the Northern agricultural States have much to learn in the way of rural thrift from the New England rural communities. The constant cry is easier credit for the farmer, but what the farmer most needs is more thrift. Some of the Southern States are cursed with crop lien laws which are holding back the rural communities by allowing a man to mortgage his future work and hopes and keeps him continually in debt instead of allowing him to lay something aside.

It is an astonishing fact that Massachusetts has five times more savings bank deposits than have twelve Southern States. In Massachusetts there are 3,300,000 people and 2,250,000 of them have "savings bank deposits. In three years the savings banks in connection with the public schools showed $1,400,000 deposits.

Every school in the rural communities ought to have a course of "thrift talks," whereby the teacher could lay before the scholar the necessity of saving a portion of whatever money they might earn. This money could be deposited in the savings banks and, later, when it has grown, could be used to purchase good, safe bonds paying three and one-half to five per cent interest. The child mind, as well as the minds of those who are older, should be impregnated with the fact that it is not what one earns that makes a competency for old age, but what one lays aside.

And Rooney Did.

The Colonel of an Irish regiment noticed that Private Rooney stuck to him closely at every advance. Finally, impelled by curiosity, he brought Rooney before him.

"Rooney," began the Colonel, "you've stuck by me well this day."

"Yis, sor," replied Rooney, saluting. "me could mother she sez to me, 'My boy, stick to the Colonel and ye'll be all right. Them Colonels niver git hit!'"

A FRENCH WINE GROWER GOT BEST OF GERMANS

When He Turned Them Loose On His "Loaded" Wine Cellar.

A few months ago it was stated in a news cablegram that the Germans captured a French town, and devastated nearly all else in it, but spared the brewery. Now it is related that 3,000 Germans have been killed because they drank French wine. The New York Herald gives the particulars as follows:

"Even the wines of France are fighting against the invader," said Mr. Aston Knight, painter, in telling of some experiences in the zone of operations of the Marne battles. He related the experience of a friend, a wine grower at La Fere, Champagne, with the Germans. Mr. Knight's friend, who is an officer of reserve in the French army, told his steward that when the Germans came he should open all the doors of his establishment to them. In one corner of his cellar he carefully walled up the best vintage of wines. Then in another corner he placed a great number of bottles of very inferior wine, and waited that way unrelentingly. He hoped the Germans would think there was valuable wine there and, breaking down the wall, would look no further. The main part of his cellar he kept as usual.

"Only tell me," he said, "where the Germans go when they have gotten through with the cellars."

The Germans came, entered the cellars and began pillaging them. They took what they saw, hundreds of bottles, without looking further and left. The steward managed to get word to the owner, who, knowing the country, informed the nearest artillery commander that he could probably get results by shelling a certain patch of woods near by.

The woods were bombarded for an hour with shrapnel. Two days later when the French retook La Fere Champagne, they found in the woods the bodies of more than 3,000 Germans surrounded with debris of the wine bottles. The winter had been correct in his guess; the Germans had retired to the woods for a drinking bout and the French guns had caught them when they were hopelessly intoxicated.

The Hartford Herald

WEBER MATTHEWS, FRANK L. FELIX,
EDITORS
FRANK L. FELIX, Pub. and Prop'r

Entered at the Hartford post-office as mail matter of the second class.

Late political happenings remind us of the last stanza of Judge James H. Mulligan's famous poem, "In Kentucky," as follows:

"The song birds are the sweetest,
In Kentucky;
The thoroughbreds are fleetest,
In Kentucky;
Mountains tower proudest,
Thunder peals the loudest,
The landscape is the grandest—
And politics—the damndest,
In Kentucky."

The German Kaiser solemnly asserts that the Almighty has been with him and his house of ancestry from the beginning to the present, including the war. He does not say whether this includes the use of poisonous gases, the killing of the English trained nurse who had nursed Germans as well as others, and various other fiendish cruelties practiced in behalf of the German empire since the war began. Emperor William should be a little more specific.

Much of the ill fortune and setback which came to Democrats at the recent election was due to the bitterness and had feeling engendered in party ranks during the primary campaign. Things were said which were hard to smooth over and some men became almost fanatical in their feeling for or against certain candidates. This weakened party lines and the result was inevitable. Not until men feel that they can afford to be loyal to party nominees can they hope for big party victories.

The recent election has perhaps settled one thing beyond a doubt and that is, for the present and immediate future at least, the alignment of the Republicans and Progressives (or Bull Moose) is identical. The Republican crowd has swallowed up the Moose party—horns, hide and all—notwithstanding the bitter enmity between these two factions only a few years ago, when they called each other crooks, grafters, etc. The Progressive vote at the recent election was negligible. By this vote will be found mainly in the Republican column.

The laws of nature are sometimes incomprehensible but always inviolable. Her decrees are as sure as that cause produces effect. Great catastrophes can usually be traced back to where the laws of nature, utilized by man's ingenuity, fail to find their adjustments perfect and the consequent crash is unavoidable. In fact, the whole universe is so minutely and perfectly arranged that where not aborted by some untoward circumstances, its evolutions are as exact as the human mind can conceive of. In many instances man has yet to learn that nature will not be trifled with.

There is a deplorable condition of affairs existing in Kentucky in regard to the farmers' interests. We speak of their apparent lack of interest in affairs which vitally concern themselves, their families and their progress in the world's affairs. Farmers' institutes are poorly attended and the spirit of co-operation seems to be waning. State, Government and county farm officials are doing good work, but their efforts are badly handicapped by poor support. Farmers cannot expect their business to improve much under conditions like these. They should awake to their opportunities.

The slogan of every loyal citizen of Ohio county, when he is in the market for any kind of goods should be "Buy in Ohio County." Too many dollars are being sent out from here to mail-order houses, and not one cent of these dollars ever finds its way back to be spent in this county. Everything considered, the buyer, in the long run, does not save anything by sending his money away for goods which can be bought here. He frequently gets "burnt" in his purchase and satisfaction is seldom genuine or lasting. County people are a great brotherhood and they should always, when possible, help one another.

Part of the alleged "possum hunter" business in Ohio county was said to have had its origin in a desire of certain fellows to get rid of the illegal sale of liquor in their community. They claim to have made efforts along legal lines to have alleged "blind tigers" suppressed, but failed. So, this as it may, there should be no excuse allowed to exist for men to use any other means only the proper channels to suppress any form of lawlessness. If men commit lawless acts, the law is open and its administration should be swift and certain. Lawlessness will not cure lawlessness and the law should be supreme, both in spirit and action.

Taken altogether the Democrats made a splendid fight in the recent election, both in State and county. The Republicans had all the "advantage" politically. There was no dissension in their ranks. Mr. Morrow got his nomination for Governor practically without opposition and he had a united party behind him. The Democratic party was torn by dissension and internecine strife both before and after the primary and both in State and local races. Affairs seemed irreconcilable and the result was a foregone conclusion. Consideration is due those loyal Democrats who preserved the integrity and stability of their party.

DEATH OF JAS. T. FELIX AT HOME OF HIS SISTER

Mr. James T. Felix, father of the publisher of The Herald, died at the home of his brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. John Hoover, near Friedland, this county, last Saturday night at 8:15 o'clock. In recent years he had made his home with his son here, but had gone up to his farm in the neighborhood where he died to see about some business matters and visit relatives. He was taken suddenly ill on Friday morning with something like acute indigestion from which he suffered intensely for several hours. Then gradually he began to sink, the pain left and he passed away quietly, conscious to the last. He left earth's scenes like a tired child that goes to sleep. Besides his sister and other relatives, his son F. L. Felix was with him when the end came. His other son, Dr. C. W. Felix, of Nelson, Ky., came by first train. His grandson, Mr. D. D. Felix, of Louisville, arrived in time for the funeral, as did also his only brother, Mr. C. B. B. Felix, of Barrett's Ferry.

Mr. Felix was 84 years old at the time of his death. He was born in Ohio county, and had spent the principal portion of his life here.

He had been a faithful member of the Cumberland Presbyterian Church since early manhood and lived the life of a Christian with the utmost fidelity. Funeral services were conducted at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Hoover Sunday about 11 o'clock, conducted by Rev. B. W. Napier, of Hartford. Bro. Napier made a very touching talk, reviewing the noble life and character of the old gentleman who lay so quietly as many tear-dimmed eyes took last parting glances at his mortal remains. This sweet-souled old man is not dead, said Rev. Napier, only his body remains to crumble to dust while his spirit lives on in glorious realization of life eternal, amidst the mansions that our Saviour said were prepared for those who love and serve Him. "If it were not so, I would have told you."

Three auto car loads of friends from Hartford went to attend the funeral. They comprised Rev. B. W. Napier, Rowan Holbrook and son Harold, Judges J. S. Glenn and J. H. Wilson, W. H. Barnes, Ernest Morris, T. H. Black, A. E. Pate, James Gillespie, Estlin Park, E. P. Moore, Arthur Petty, James Nance and Homer Matthews. Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Kirkhead, Mr. S. E. Bennett, Hartford, also attended. Interment was at the Sullenger family graveyard, near the old homestead. Quite a crowd attended the funeral and burial, the latter being about 7 miles away from where the funeral was held.

Many friends in Hartford will ever hold a tender spot in their memory for this fine old gentleman and christian patriarch whose life had been such a splendid example of goodness and warm sociability. He was always cheerful, genial and considerate of the happiness and pleasure of others. In his last days he seemed to glimpse a vision of the future life, for which he was so well prepared, which only added cheer to the feebleness of fading years. His life well spent, he died in peace. Sustained and soothed by an unflinching trust, he approached his grave "like one who wraps the drapery of his couch about him and lies down to pleasant dreams."

On November 15 and 16, at Jellico, Tenn., will be held the Kentucky Ministers' meeting of the General Association of Kentucky Baptists. Baptist ministers from all parts of the State will be in attendance.

Nine hundred Irish were prevented from sailing from Liverpool for New York after a riot in which they were called "cowards" and "traitors" and two were knocked down by women.

STANLEY SEEMS WINNER

BY A SMALL MAJORITY

Will Be Finally Decided By

State Board—Mandamus

Suits Filed.

Revisions of election returns in Taylor, Boyd, Carter, Ballard and Pendleton counties—as certified to the Secretary of State at Frankfort—raised Mr. Stanley's total majority to 600 instead of 583. The official certification of the vote in each of these counties, on which the 583 majority reckoning is based, follows:

Ballard—Three loss for Stanley.
Taylor—One gain for Stanley.
Pendleton—Twenty gain for Stanley.

Boyd—Two loss for Stanley.
Carter—One loss for Stanley.

The net gain of fifteen for Mr. Stanley, added to the 583 already noted, makes his majority 600 with 118 counties in, Laurel reckoned at 1,124 for Morrow, and Jefferson at 4,214 for Stanley.

The various Kentucky counties are reporting to the Secretary of State's office at Frankfort the certification of the vote to be ready for the final canvass of the returns by the State Board of Election Commissioners on November 22, when certificates of election will be issued.

Mandamus suits were instituted by the Republicans to prevent the certification of the vote of Davless and Hart counties to the State Election Board. It is claimed by the Republicans that one precinct in each county was counted that showed more votes than were contained in the ballot stub books.

The latest development in the McCreary county situation, where the Democratic election commissioner refused to sign the certificate of the vote, which he claimed gave Morrow 180 more votes than were cast for him in McCreary county, was the arrest of W. F. Gilreth, Democratic county election commissioner; Dr. Fred Sevier, Democratic county campaign chairman; Capt. John A. Geary, and James Roberts, former jailer of McCreary county. These Democrats, who were afterward released on bond of $2,000 each, were charged with conspiring to destroy property. It is reported, in connection, it is presumed, with the alleged breaking open of the County Clerk's office, where the ballots were kept.

Attorneys Charles Carroll, of Louisville, and O. B. Bertram, of Monticello, are on the scene at Whitley City to look after the interests of the accused men and the Democratic party.

It was announced at the Republican State campaign headquarters in Louisville that the Republicans have nothing further to give out regarding the election and its outcome, except that the campaign managers stood pat on the claim of Morrow's election to the governorship until the official State canvass showed otherwise.

Stanley's Election Certain.
LATER—With 119 counties officially certified and only twelve ballots affected in Laurel, the missing county, Governor-elect A. O. Stanley has 449 majority, or more than enough to lose all the votes which are in contest in three counties and still be certain of securing his certificate from the State Election Board on November 22.

Penny Lunch a Success.

The first attempt to give a penny lunch to the children of the Washington-street school was made Monday. It was a success in every detail and is sure to become a daily feature in the school work.

One hundred and sixty-five children were given their dinner, and the manner in which the Kitchen Committee handled the matter it only took a short time to serve them. Each child was given a hot bowl of soup, crackers and bread and preserves.—[Winchester Sun.]

MR. TAFT CRITICIZES ROOSEVELT'S DOCTRINE

New York, Nov. 6.—Broadening the use of executive power, as exercised by former President Theodore Roosevelt, was termed as "unsafe doctrine" by former President William Howard Taft in an address here last night. He was speaking on the subject, "The Presidency; Its Powers, Duties, Responsibilities and Limitations," when he uttered the criticism of certain acts of his predecessor in the White House.

"Mr. Roosevelt," he said, "in his notes for a possible autobiography says in regard to certain acts of his administration, 'I did not usurp power, but I did greatly broaden the use of the executive power.'"

"My own judgment is that this is an unusual doctrine and that it might lead to irreparable injustice to private rights. The maintenance of such a view is that the executive is to play the part of a universal Providence and set all things right. The President is not an omnipotent and benevolent prophet.

"Mr. Roosevelt followed this principle in settling the Pennsylvania anthracite strike and no one has a higher admiration of the value of what he did than I have. Had he failed in arbitration, however, Mr. Roosevelt proposed to use the army to seize private property. The benevolence of his purpose no one can deny. But from a standpoint of a government of law it could only be regarded as lawless."

In closing, however, Mr. Taft said it was entirely proper that the President should be clothed with great enough power to carry out the governmental purposes of the people.

SLAUGHTER OF MILLIONS PREDICTED BY EDISON

Denver, Colo., Nov. 6.—"Soon we can be mowing men down by the thousands—or even millions—almost by pressing a button. The slaughter will be so terrible that the machinery itself virtually will have to do the fighting," declared Thomas A. Edison, greatest living American inventor and Chairman of the United States Naval Advisory Board, during a brief stay in Denver.

Edison continued: "The European war is a crime against humanity. The poor men who are doing the fighting did not desire war. Only a few desired it, and they dragged the millions in."

"We are a long, long way from attaining universal peace. This war has taught us that mankind is not as good as some of us were beginning to believe."

"War can be made so scientific that the very horror of it will help to end war. But that day is not yet near."

"No one can say with certainty that the United States will not have war. But we are not ready. Our preparedness is at zero. Republicans never are prepared."

"We should have right now ammunition factories capable of producing daily twice as much explosives as the whole of the armies in Europe are consuming daily. There should be at least 12 of these Government munitions factories in the United States."

"I don't mean that ammunition should be made now and stored, but the plants should be kept oiled and ready, so that in less than a week we could be turning out twice as much ammunition as the rest of the world put together."

MANY SERBIAN WOMEN FIGHTING IN TRENCHES

London, Nov. 6.—"There were nearly 2,000 women in Serbia's army when I left and more women soldiers were being organized," said Dr. Gruitch, a Serbian doctor, now in London, to-day. "The women are not in special battalions. Some of them wear the complete uniform of a soldier for the sake of comfort, while others wear skirts with a blue tunic. The younger women go with their brothers or their husbands."

"The women are of every class of the population and we cannot prevent them from serving. They inspire the men, with whom they eat and serve shoulder to shoulder in the trenches. These women are not afraid. Nobody in Serbia is afraid, and the women in the ranks do not lose their nerve under fire."

"We realize the great power of our friends in the war. Every soldier feels that we are only a part of a world army, and if it is necessary that our army shall be lost—well, it is only a part. There is time yet to save Serbia, but assistance for her cannot come too quickly."

The Three Religions.

When the first Methodist missionary went to Africa seventy-five years ago it was truly called the dark Continent. To-day it is known in all its borders and throughout its vast interior. The whole continent is now open to the missionary. Three religions are contending for supremacy. Paganism, with its superstitious darkness, blinds nearly one hundred millions. Mohammedanism, strong in missionary zeal and numbering sixty millions, is making a determined effort to conquer Africa for Islam. Christianity must awake if she is to win this great continent for Christ.

ROCKPORT.

Nov. 6.—Mr. Troy Howard, who has been travelling in the South for the last several months, returned home this week from Mobile, Ala. Troy says he is tired of traveling and intends to try staying in old Kentucky for awhile.

The remains of David E. Rhoads, who died at Dade City, Fla., last Wednesday, arrived at Greenville, Ky., Friday at noon, and were buried in the family lot there that evening. Mr. Rhoads was born in Muhlenberg county in 1843 and made his home in the county until a few years ago, when he went to Florida, but he never cut loose from Kentucky entirely. He owned property in Rockport and in Muhlenberg county when he died. Mr. Rhoads was a Union soldier and a splendid citizen. He leaves a wife and numerous friends to mourn his loss.

Mr. T. N. Tilford has a contract for shaved oak hoghead hoops, and has been shipping quite a lot of them.

Mr. Campbell has opened up a poultry slaughter house here and is shipping quantities of dressed poultry and eggs every day.

Dr. and Mrs. F. B. DeWitt, Mr. and Mrs. Z. Harrel, Mr. H. M. Reid, wife and daughter Zetta Louise, Mr. Theo. Heck, wife and daughter, Mr. Foster Roll and wife, Mr. P. O. McKinney, Mr. H. L. Tucker and L. T. Reid, all of Rockport, attended the burial of Mr. D. E. Rhoads at Greenville Friday.

We will soon have a new line of steamers plying between Evansville and Rochester. The steamer Alma will make the initial trip in the near future.

The election passed off quietly here, both parties claiming success. Mr. J. P. Thompson, of Horton, is visiting relatives in Rockport this week. He is the same Jim Polk we knew 40 years ago.

Mr. J. H. Kinnell and wife, of Paradise, Ky., visited relatives in this vicinity this week, returning home Saturday.

Mrs. T. J. Howerton, of Central City, is spending a few days with her mother, Mrs. L. T. Reid.

The election of town officers for Rockport last Tuesday resulted as follows: George Dunn, marshal; H. E. Her, S. O. Maples, J. W. Ross, H. D. Louch and Dr. C. W. Layton, Trustees.

Miss Ida Williams, who has been on the sick list for some time, is improving.

Mr. Ed Cooper made a business trip to Central City Friday.

The boys are rubbing up their guns and feeding the dogs ahead the opening of the hunting season. So far as I can see it is likely to result in a deal of noise and little game. Birds seem to be scarce in these woods.

Your scribe enjoyed a very pleasant visit to John Chish, of Beaver Dam, last week. John is one of the few Confederate veterans left in Ohio county and he has not forgotten how to tell his experience in war times.

EDWIN WHITNEY COMING
NEXT TUESDAY NIGHT

Mr. Edwin Whitney, the noted reader and entertainer, will give one of his recitals at Hartford College next Tuesday night.

Here is a reader who can point with pride to an unusual number of "return engagements." This means that he has won his audiences and they want him again. What can be a stronger recommendation? The charm of his work is his great versatility. Plenty of laughs if you want them, or tears if you prefer but whichever they are they are given with force and refinement only to be found in one with natural talent supplemented by years of experience. From those who have been privileged to hear him there comes the universal acclaim: "The King of Story Tellers."

Mr. Whitney is the best miscellaneous reader on the platform, presenting a program of the liveliest humor and deepest pathos; good stories from good literature, with a good moral.

Don't fail to hear him. It will be a rare treat.

New Star Theater.

The Star Theater will give a show on Tuesday, Friday and Saturday nights of each week. Will open the doors at 7:30 and the show will begin promptly at 7:45 o'clock each evening.

You cannot afford to miss these shows, as we have one of the best and most up-to-date machines made. We also have the best screen on the market and it will not hurt your eyes to look at these pictures. We likewise have one of the best and most modernly equipped show houses outside of Louisville. We have spared neither time or money in equipping a real show house for the people of Hartford and vicinity. Your patronage will be appreciated.

GIVES BIRTH TO NINE
CHILDREN IN 18 MONTHS

Lexington, Ky., Nov. 6.—Mrs. Gaither Drewry, of Spencer county, has a record to-day which is believed never has been surpassed. In eighteen months she has given birth to nine children. Eighteen months ago three boys and two girls were born to her.

The girls died, but the three boys are doing fine. To-day, so news reached here to-night, she gave birth to four boys, all of whom are healthy and doing nicely.

The mother is about 30 years old and apparently getting along well.

Her unusual record probably will result in a bill for mothers' pensions being introduced in the coming Legislature.

Dr. David A. Amos Dead.

Hopkinsville, Ky., Nov. 6.—Dr. David A. Amos, of Caldwell county, formerly of Christian county, who was tried and acquitted on the charge of the night rider raids committed in the latter county several years ago, and later was sued for $30,000 damages in the Federal court at Owensboro by one of those alleged to have been whipped, died in a sanitarium in New York this week.

Dr. Amos was one of the noted physicians in Western Kentucky, and was recognized as a power and leader of the night rider and silent brigade in the dark patch district. Dr. Amos recently underwent an operation for a serious trouble.

BRYAN DISSENTS FROM THE PRESIDENT'S VIEWS

Washington, Nov. 6.—Former Secretary Bryan came out squarely against President Wilson's national defense plan to-day in a formal statement in which he took issue with the President's views as expressed recently before the Manhattan Club in New York.

"A departure from our traditions, a reversal of our national policy, a menace to our peace and safety, and a challenge to the spirit of Christianity which teaches us to influence others by example rather than by exciting fear," is Mr. Bryan's view of the national defense plans.

The former Secretary of State's statement, which reiterates views he has previously expressed on the subject of preparedness for war, was regarded as the opening gun in the fight which Administration leaders expect in Congress against adoption of the plan.

DARK TOBACCO GROWERS WILL NOT ORGANIZE

Hopkinsville, Ky., Nov. 8.—It now seems settled that the Planters' Protective Association will make no effort as an organization to handle tobacco out of the 1915 crop. It is understood that several of the warehouses and possible prize houses will continue in business but as private institutions, rather than as association houses, as heretofore.

The campaign to secure 125,000 acres pledged to the association, without which the association announced, they would not attempt to do business again, failed, it is understood, by a substantial amount. Hence the decision to not be active in the trade this year.

Special Notice.

Everybody who expects to occupy a seat in the Star Theater must pay the regular admission—10c. All children, unless an infant in arms, are included in this rule, and must be provided with tickets before entering the main show room or they will be required to pay before the entertainment starts.

POISONOUS GAS FACTORY DESTROYED BY FRENCH

Geneva, Nov. 8.—The poisonous gas factory at Dornach, Alsace, which was attacked Friday by French aviators, was virtually destroyed, according to a report which has reached here from Basel. #### FARMERS' INSTITUTE NOT LARGELY ATTENDED

But Of Much Benefit To Those Present—December
4th Next.

The Ohio County Farmers' Institute was held at Hartford, Ky., November 5th and 6th. The attendance was small but there were good lecturers and all subjects were handled with much skill and were very instructive. The speakers were from Connecticut, Indiana and Iowa, with some of our good home talent. Those who failed to attend missed a treat and much good instruction.

We will be glad when the farmers of Ohio county thoroughly wake up to the situation as they should. In attending these institutes one can take note and on visiting the farms of those who attend, will see that they are the most up-to-date and progressive farmers of the county. Yet many farmers talk against these institutes and you will find that invariably they are the ones that never attend and do not know anything about the advantages to be derived from them.

While the meeting was not largely attended it was by no wise a failure, for those who attended feel that they were well paid for their time. We trust that it is only seed scattered that will fall on good ground and bring forth many fold, and we are sure it will.

The following officers were elected for the ensuing year: Henry M. Pirtle, Pres.; J. E. Mitchell, Vice Pres.; W. E. Travis, Secretary. The following delegates to the State Institute were elected: J. E. Mitchell, E. G. Austin, W. H. Rhoads and Judge J. B. Wilson.

The time for the next meeting was set for December 4, 1915. We do not expect the State to furnish speakers, but we farmers can meet together and tell of our failures and successes and the reason, and be benefited by our mistakes and failures and thereby be a greater benefit to the world in which we live. I am sure we can well afford to spend one half day a month in this way and am sure that we could not spend it more profitably. Surely this would be a great place to begin co-operating with each other in a business way that will be a great help to all of us. So let us wake up and get out of the rut and be on the progressive side and not be content to know that Ohio county is on the map but make it a place of note that we will all be proud to claim.

HENRY M. PIRTLE.

Denies Allegation.

Centertown, Ky., Nov. 4, 1915.
To Whom This May Concern:
I wish to state that the statement being circulated with reference to me working and canvassing the county for T. F. Hirkhead, B. D. Ringo and Wallace Riley, for the past three weeks, or any other time is absolutely false. Since Circuit Court adjourned at Hartford I have been away from Centertown business and on that trip—which was to Rockport to see Ed Ashby about selling him some land—I spoke to but three with reference to the election. Such misleading statements as these are circulated to mislead the public and injure me, are absolutely false and are denied by me in every particular.

Birds of national repute and dogs, qualified for an American Kennel Club showing will be on hand in great numbers and with the advantage of the co-operation of the Department of Agriculture of both Washington and Kentucky and their furnishing of demonstrators, lecturers and exhibits of keen moment to bird and dog men, the show will be of an educational advantage too great for breeder or fancier to miss.

THREE GREAT EASTERN STATES DENY SUFFRAGE

To Women — Leaders Will Now Strive For Influence In Congress.

The women of New York, Massachusetts and Pennsylvania asked for the vote Nov. 2d and received an emphatic denial. These three great Atlantic seaboard States have joined New Jersey in withholding from women the suffrage they enjoy in some of the Western States.

An indicated majority against a woman suffrage amendment to the Constitution in New York based on returns from more than two-thirds of the State, is 210,000.

Massachusetts defeated the proposition by a majority of 132,502 on a total vote of 457,304.

Reports from about one-quarter of the State indicated that the vote in Pennsylvania was against suffrage by a majority of 60,000.

New Jersey refused the vote to women on October 19 by a majority of 50,000.

The largest majorities against the amendment in proportion to population were rolled up in the cities of New York, Boston and Philadelphia. The proposition received its strongest support in the western portions of New York and Pennsylvania.

Under the law, five years must elapse before a suffrage amendment can be put to popular vote again in Pennsylvania and New Jersey, four years in New York and two in Massachusetts.

National leaders of the suffrage cause declared at once that they would now devote their efforts to the national Congress and strive for a votes-for-women amendment to the Federal Constitution.

ONE LOOK WAS ENOUGH—

PLED FROM BRIDE-TO-BE

Kansas City, Mo., Nov. 6. When Timothy Riley, farmer, got one look at his bride-to-be the romance was "busted." Riley drove his brand new farm wagon up in front of the Union Station, hitched the team and then stood guard at the exit door.

He wore a red carnation, by which sign the bride-to-be was to know him, all the love-making having been done by mail. The bride, who was to have come from Nevada, was to wear a Palm Beach suit.

A few moments later a Palm Beach suit, garnished with numerous boxes and bundles, hove in sight. Riley took one look, snatched the carnation from his button-hole and fled. The bride-to-be appeared to be fully twenty years older than he, which probably was the excuse for his hasty flight.

AFTER THE EUROPEAN WAR—WHAT?

(By W. H. Chandler.)

Really, it is hard to predict just what will happen when the European conflict ceases; but, taking the "signs of the times," remembering that out of all conflicts of men and nations a certain amount of wisdom arises, and that exhaustion will prepare the nations now engaged in human slaughter and waste of wealth from a long season of peace and recuperation, I make bold to say that the people of the warring nations of Europe, sobered by sorrow, chastened by conflict, ruled by rulers, and taught by terrible adversities, will, ere long, be brought to see the folly of monarchs, the curse of capitalism, and the cruelties of competition.

I am optimistic, and, although some seem to think that civilization will be set back, and human progress hindered, I am inclined to think that out of the war will come that soberness of thought, and that realization of competition, commercialism, class struggles, class rule, and the horrors of war, that will enlighten the mind and make room for social ideas in lieu of brutal individualistic thought, and that out of the agony of war will be born that sense of Human Brotherhood, and of the beauty and greatness of co-operation, that will lead the way to unity and collectivism and universal peace.

Out of the evils of war social democracy will have a new birth.

From the end of monarchy will be born European republicanism.

Through autocracy's lesson will be found a knowledge of popular government.

Never again will the world react to mediaeval ideas and monarchic rule; but, improved by experience, aroused by tyranny, made thoughtful by misery, and enlightened by the social spirit, humanity will move on to social and industrial democracy, economic freedom, equality of opportunity, and the establishment of a great Social Co-operative Commonwealth.

GOD GUIDED RISE OF HIS HOUSE, ASSERTS KAISER

Amsterdam, Nov. 6.—Emperor William, according to a despatch from Berlin, has sent the following reply to a congratulatory telegram from the Prussian Cabinet:

"My warmest thanks to the Ministry of State for its inspiring words, by which it renewed, on the day of the 500th anniversary of the reign of my house over Brandenburg, its vow of loyalty."

"In reviewing half a thousand years of Brandenburg-Prussian history, God's guidance appears to have been wonderful. Across the depths and the heights, my house has been raised from the electoral hat to the imperial crown, and from a small mark to the centre of the German Empire, whose strength and power have been so brilliantly proved to friend and foe in the present war of the nations—the greatest of all time."

"With full humility, I acknowledge, together with the whole German people, that thus far the Lord has helped us. May He henceforth graciously assist us and guide the German people who stand together, united and imperturbable, ready for all sacrifices, through the dark days of severe affliction, to the bright sunlight of peace; to new and vigorous work; to the road marked out by Divine Providence."

Regulate the bowels when they fail to move properly. Herbine is an admirable bowel regulator. It helps the liver and stomach and restores a fine feeling of strength and buoyancy. Price 50c. Sold by Z. Wilbur Mitchell, Heaven Dam, Ky.

The Test.

"I'm prepared to make any sacrifice for you, dear," said the callow young man as he knelt at the feet of his adored one.

"Do you really mean that?" asked the girl, as she thoughtfully studied his features.

"Try me and see."

"Then, I will. You have been making a desperate effort to grow a mustache for two years, Algernon, and the result is—er—rather disappointing. Go to a barber, dear, and sacrifice that on the altar of love."

Versatile.

It was at a reception and the two friends had met.

"Do you know," said one, "it was as much as I could do to keep from laughing when Josephine was just telling us about her dance being 'so versatile.'"

"Meaning Webb?" replied Kathleen, smiling. "Well, dear, he is rather versatile, you know."

"Nonsense!" cried one. "You know, Kathleen, he is a regular idiot."

"Yes," replied Kathleen, "but he's so many kinds of an idiot."

"I BOUGHT A BUNCH OF PIGS"

"Got the biggest piece of news yet," yelled Dave Thurman as he rode up to the old blacksmith shop at Ashbottom.

"Well give it to us, Dave."

"John Hughes's going to run for school trustee."

"No, you're joking, Dave. John, he's too busy a farmer to bother with being school trustee, besides he hasn't got any kin folks teachin' school that I ever heard of."

"That may be so, but I got word about it mighty straight. His wife tol' mine he was going to run an' I reckon that's just about as straight as anybody could get anything. Here he comes now on his ol' bay mare, an' you can ask him for yourselves."

When the tall, fine-looking man had given the blacksmith some instructions concerning the mending of a doubletree, he turned to the men and said:

"I'll bet anything Dave has told you I'm out for the office of school trustee for Ashbottom Sub-district."

"Yes, he said you were going to run, but we couldn't hardly believe it," answered one of the neighbors.

"Why not?"

"Well, because mighty few men ever wanted the trouble and bother of worryin' with a young teacher an' a lot of children. Besides there ain't a penny in it an' plenty of hard work if the man does his duty."

The candidate sat down on the frame of the grindstone under the big elm and quietly crossed his legs. For a time he was silent with an odd, bitter smile on his face. At length he arose and said:

"Any one of you men would fight if anybody told you that you really didn't love your children, wouldn't you?"

The men about him nodded their assent and he hurried on.

"You do love 'em; I know you do because I love mine, too. But boys, there's ever so many ways of lovin' children an' it's only lately that I've seen a new way to love 'em. My children have been going to school out at the little school house for five years an' I hardly ever gave 'em a thought. I voted for any ol' galoot that wanted to be trustee just like you have."

"What made you swap around in your ideas?" asked one of the men.

"Feedin' hogs an' keepin' my eyes open."

ODD BITS OF NEWS.

Greensport, L. I.—After being coughing for ten months, Cortland Brooks is dead at his home here. When he began to cough he was taken to a hospital and put in a plaster, but continued to cough even in his sleep. Physicians diagnosed his malady as tuberculosis of the spine.

Danbury, Conn.—With his right arm severed near the elbow and the flesh hanging in shreds, John Calkins, 24 years old, a chauffeur, drove his automobile with his remaining hand two miles to get surgical aid. His arm was cut off by an ensilage rutter.

Philadelphia, Pa.—"There are wheels in my head," said a Marlton, N. J. man to the bond physician at Cooper hospital, Camden, N. J. The physician examined the man's ear and found twenty-three small wriggling objects which were identified by an entomologist as the larvae of a fly. The man had been sleeping on the ground, and it is thought a female laid the eggs which were hatched by body heat.

Waycross, Ga.—Dr. J. H. Latimer, member of the city council, had an operation performed to remove a No. 6 birdshot from between his fingers. The shot entered his arm over eighteen years ago and had never troubled him until it worked between his fingers so that he was unable to move them.

NATION-WIDE INQUIRY OF THE OIL INDUSTRY

Government Quietly Proceeding Into Every Phase of Situation.

Washington, Nov. 5.—A complete and thorough investigation of the oil business of the United States is being made by the Federal Trade Commission, according to an announcement made by the commission. It states that the investigation was begun in response to resolutions passed by the Senate which were introduced by Senators Owen and Gore, of Oklahoma.

"The information called for by the resolutions," said the announcement, "necessitates a careful and complete investigation of nearly every phase of the production, transportation, refining and marketing of crude petroleum and its refined products in this country. The work of investigation under these resolutions has been continuously carried on by the Federal Trade Commission. The Commission is soon to issue a report dealing with one phase of the investigation,—the cost of pipe line transportation of crude petroleum."

"Recently there have been numerous complaints filed with the commission alleging discrimination between localities in the sale of gasoline," said the announcement. "Complaints have been received from California, Georgia, Idaho, Missouri and other States."

"The recent complaints alleging price discrimination between localities in the sale of gasoline have led the commission to send out agents to gather first hand information on this subject. The result of such inquiries will guide the commission in determining if the alleged conditions are prevalent in the United States at large, and whether it would be desirable to take up that subject for immediate investigation, or whether it would be more advantageous for it to concentrate its efforts, as far as possible, to the completion of the reports on the whole situation."

WIVES ARE WANTED FOR THE MINERS OF ALASKA

Seattle, Wash., Nov. 5.—There is no such matrimonial market in the country as there is today in Alaska. Publicity is being given the situation by an army officer's wife from Fort Liscomb, who, writing in a Western paper, declares the fact that so many of the best men of the country are living in bachelorhood in the territory.

"I never saw such an active matrimonial market," writes the author, "as there is in Alaska. And I cannot say too positively that the Alaska men are the equal of any in the world. They have to be fine men physically and morally to overcome the hardships of the new and wild country."

The new railroad camp built by the Government at Anchorage is made up of young men. True, they are of all nationalities, but there are hundreds of fine, strong, American young fellows who will decide to make Alaska their future home.

The busy, mining city and capital of the territory, Juneau, possesses more single men than married and there is also the same scarcity of young women. Wrangell, Skagway, Seward and Valdez are other coast towns whose population consists largely of the boarding class of young fellows.

The publishers of The Youth's Companion will, as always at this season, present to every subscriber whose subscription is paid for 1916, a Calendar for the new year. It is a gem of calendar-making. During the ten-year period ending in 1909, on all the railroads of Great Britain and Ireland only one passenger was killed for every 72,000,000 carried.

AN INDIAN HISTORY OF MOORE'S NATURE COMPOUND

Guaranteed Purely Vegetable

The Great Liver, Kidney and Stomach Remedy

This remedy was first discovered by the Cherokee Indians in the year 1840. In those days they gathered the herbs and boiled them together, but in later years it has fallen into the hands of the white race and is now being distilled and compounded. This remedy is positively guaranteed to cure all Blood and Stomach Troubles, such as Dyspepsia, Indigestion, Liver Complaint, Kidney and Bladder Trouble, Loss of Appetite, Impure Blood, Eclamsia, Bolls, Syphilitic Troubles, Lumbago, Rheumatism, Catarrh of the Head, Female Troubles, General Weakness and in fact any disease arising from impure blood. Acting directly upon the Liver and Kidneys, removing the cause, it cures Sick and Sour Stomach, Swelling in the Head, Hemorrhoids, or Water-Breath, Biliousness, Constipation and all forms of Stomach Trouble.

Moore's Celebrated Liniment for Man or Beast.

This is an external preparation for aches and pains of all kinds among man and beast. It cures headache, toothache, neuralgia or acute rheumatism. It does not cure muscular or inflammatory rheumatism, because they are blood diseases and cannot be cured by rubbing. They are cured by purifying the blood, which is done by taking Moore's Nature Compound or Moore's Indian Herbs, but this Liniment will relieve the pain and reduce the swelling of any case of rheumatism, stiffness of joints, burns, bruises, scalds from water or steam, sore throat, pains in the chest, sprains or weak back. This will cure stiff, strained, or weak back, but it does not cure all cases of backache, for nine cases out of ten when your back aches your kidneys are out of order; then you need Moore's Nature Compound or Moore's Indian Herbs, guaranteed to cure kidney and bladder trouble. Moore's Liniment cures stings of insects and bites of reptiles. For earache or partial deafness it has no equal. For diseases among horses it cures swine, ringbone, distula, big leg, gout, scratches, spavin, knots, or in fact any external disease. This Liniment costs 25c per bottle. Don't forget the name, Moore's Celebrated Liniment.

My dear readers, don't come to the conclusion because you have been treated by several doctors and tried several different kinds of medicine that there is no cure for you, for if Moore's Nature Compound or Moore's Indian Herbs don't cure you we will refund your money. If you think you cannot be cured you are an infidel, because Moore's Nature Compound or Moore's Indian Herbs is God's medicine. Why do I say so? Because the Bible tells me so. If you doubt my word get your Bible and turn to the 22d chapter of Revelations and you will find in the 1st and 2d verses the readings of God's words, as follows: "And he showed me a pure river of water of life, clear as crystal, proceeding out of the Throne of God, and of the Lamb; in the midst of the street of it and on either side of the river, was there the tree of life, bearing twelve manner of fruits, and yielding her fruit every month, and the leaves of the tree were for the healing of the nations." That goes to show that leaves, barks, seeds, berries and blossoms were the medicines intended from the foundation of the world. If God had intended us to use chemicals He would have put them on top of the earth where we could get them conveniently. Don't forget the name, Moore's Nature Compound or Moore's Indian Herbs, prepared only by the Indian Herb Medicine Co., Dr. W. Z. Moore, Sole Proprietor, Paducah, Ky. Price $1.00. Trade Mark "W. Z. M." Sold and guaranteed by James H. Williams, Hartford, Ky.

The above remedies are manufactured by Dr. W. Z. Moore, the man that pulls teeth with his fingers. Dr. Moore has been visiting Hartford for years.

RIVER PILOT TELLS HOW RELIEF CAME

Louisville Steamboatman
Describes Recovery
Via Tanlac.

Louisville, Ky., Nov. 8.—Capt. T. J. Oatman, one of the oldest and best known river pilots in Louisville, who resides at 308 South Sixth street, this city, adds his testimony to the hundreds of others in Louisville, who have gained relief by the use of Tanlac. Captain Oatman said:

"I have been afflicted with stomach disorders and catarrh many years. My condition became so serious that I lost my appetite, foods of a solid nature always causing great discomfort and pain in the abdomen."

"My catarrh also became worse, and every damp, cool morning I would get up with a choking sensation in my throat and a fullness of my head. I coughed most of the time."

"I tried Tanlac and found it was the best thing I had done in many years, as it helped me from the first dose. My catarrh was virtually disappeared and my stomach is strong and feels right. I cannot praise Tanlac too highly."

Tanlac, the premier preparation, is now obtainable in Hartford at the Ohio County Drug Co.'s drug store, by Z. Wilbur Mitchell, Beaver Dam, by L. C. Morton & Son, Centertown.

Put a porous plaster on the chest and take a good cough syrup internally if you would treat a severe case of sore lungs properly. Get the dollar size Ballard's Horehound Syrup. With each bottle there is a free Herrick's Red Pepper Porous Plaster for the chest. Sold by Z. Wilbur Mitchell, Beaver Dam.

How He Was Struck.

"As a matter of fact," said the lawyer for the defendant, trying to be sarcastic, "you were half-seized to death, and don't know whether it was a motor car or something resembling a motor car that hit you." "It resembled one, all right," the plaintiff made answer. "I was forcibly struck by the resemblance!" [Kansas City Journal.]

Every Woman Should Know

There are three entirely different kinds of baking powder, namely:

- (1) Cream of tartar, derived from grapes;
- (2) Alum, a mineral acid; and
- (3) Phosphate of Lime.

(1) Baking Powders made of Cream of Tartar add to the food the same healthful qualities that exist in the ripe grapes from which Cream of Tartar is derived.

(2) Baking Powders made of Alum add to the food some form of Alum or Aluminum, a heavy metal, wholly foreign to any natural article of food.

(3) Phosphate of Lime is made from rock or by burning bones which by chemical action are changed into a white, powdered acid. It is used in baking powder only because it is a cheaper substitute.

A Cream of Tartar powder never contains Alum or Phosphate.

Every housekeeper should read the names of the ingredients printed on the label and know what she is using.

ESSENTIAL VALUE OF SUNDAY SCHOOL WORK

Is Set Forth In Excellent Manner—The Meeting Here Next Friday.

I sometimes wonder why such a large per cent. of the church members of all denominations come from the Sunday Schools. Just think! 85 per cent. is the minimum estimate, and some statistics claim 90 per cent. A pleasant way to look at this, in my estimation, is that our good Master is showing us how to go into His vineyard and reap a great harvest of souls by united effort.

In no other organization under the sun is there such interest manifested, or such feeling shown. The wisest men of all denominations meet and select for the Sunday Schools all over the entire universe, the same lessons, and on each Sunday about thirty million souls are assembled in the churches and schoolhouses all over the world, with the same scripture lesson, trying to apply it to the works of humanity and by the study thereof bringing in 85 per cent. of all the members of the church that are admitted to its doors.

Can we afford to not profit by this great lesson, which shows us the result of united effort in God's service?

Possibly not 50 per cent. of the people in our country are in the Sunday Schools. Think of the harvest! As Sunday School superintendents, preachers, church members, are we doing our best? I fear not.

I claim that if the officers in the Sunday Schools, and the people in the church would get busy and put forth the proper effort, our Sunday Schools would double in 30 days.

I attended a Sunday School in Beaver Dam last Sunday that has just gotten a new vision of her duty and she reported twice as many in attendance on November 7th as she had on October 31st—100 per cent. gain in one week! This was the result of some personal efforts. Good for Beaver Dam! May she keep on till she develops every inch of the ground in her territory.

I heard a prominent banker who was there say that if the Sunday School would give something that would interest him, you could not keep him away. There is the trouble, in my judgment. We want to be balanced ration. We have fed him too long.

November 13, at Hartford Baptist church, the Sunday School superintendents of Ohio county of all denominations are very urgently requested to meet, so that some of these problems may be worked out. Over 50 questions on the Sunday School will be asked and answered, and a good balanced ration for the Sunday School that will last a year will be worked out. Don't fail to come. "Let us reason together."

Pig, pickle and pie lunch served free to all superintendents who attend. In the basement of the Methodist church.

Rain or shine, we urge you to come and if you want to bring your preacher, teachers or any faithful Sunday School workers along, do so. We will try and not let them starve. Whether you are a banker, teacher, farmer, merchant, or what not, we want you to come to this special Sunday School Superintendents' meeting at Hartford next Friday, November 12. A. D. BAUGH, County President.

DIFFICULTIES OF WORK IN RUSSIAN MISSIONS

Their Place Of Worship Shared With Various Business Organizations.

A well known missionary asks: "How would Christians in America like to share their place of worship with theatrical clubs, business organizations and conventions?"

"The hall which we rent in St. Petersburg, Russia," he continues, "is ours only five hours on Sundays, during the forenoon and late afternoon, and for two hours on Monday, Wednesday and Friday evenings."

"Occasionally we have embarrassing experiences. For instance, it often happens that while our services are in progress scores of business people are nervously awaiting our departure. Some of these slip into chairs in the rear of the hall, join us in our songs, and gladly accept our Russian Christian Advocate and Methodist tracts. Thus even our embarrassments seem to be providential opportunities in disguise. Three cases in particular have impressed themselves indelibly upon my memory."

"One Sunday forenoon during the holiday season several hundred business men, members of the Stock Exchange Association, assembled in the building, waiting for our services to close. It was then 11 o'clock and the business meeting was called for one o'clock. About seventy-five of these men entered our hall, evidently attracted by the singing. They stood near the door for almost an hour, listening to the sermon and the Sunday School exercises."

"The subject of that sermon was harmony between creed and deed. Among other things, I stated that Christianity is more than a system of doctrine; that it must reach out into the whole life. In spite of the disturbance caused by people coming and going, I felt an inspiration as I saw that group of hard-headed business men intently listening to my message. Some of the comments on that service, which later came to me, were rather interesting. 'What a difference there is,' said one 'between this kind of a service and the dead forms of our church.' 'That preacher knows what he is talking about,' said another, 'he couldn't talk that way if he didn't believe every word he said.' 'That's the kind of religion Russia needs—one that is not confined to the churches, but takes in the whole life of man.'"

RUSSIANS SLAUGHTERED WHEN TAKEN PRISONERS

Petrograd, Nov. 8.—What purports to be extracts from two letters found on the bodies of German soldiers on the field of battle have been published by the Imperial Commission of Inquiry into the Conduct of the War. One says:

"In this case, when the advance becomes too hard, we take Russian prisoners and drive them before us against their fellow-countrymen. Thus they, at least in some measure, diminish our losses."

The second reputed quotation follows:

"We don't know what to do with prisoners. Henceforth we shall drive every Russian who surrenders before the line of our fortifications to be shot."

He retired with what he supposed would be money enough to care for him all his life, but had not expected to attain such a great age, and the years have now exhausted his savings.
